

UNIVERSITEIT
GENT

FACULTEIT ECONOMIE
EN BEDRIJFSKUNDE

HOVENIERSBERG 4
B-9000 GENT

Tel. : 32 - (0)9 - 264.34.61
Fax. : 32 - (0)9 - 264.35.92

WORKING PAPER

The Impact of Task Definition on Store Choice and Store-Attribute Saliences^{1 2}

Patrick Van Kenhove^a, Walter van Waterschoot^b and Kristof De Wulf^c

^aUniversity of Ghent, Belgium

^bUniversity of Antwerp, UFSIA, Belgium

^cUniversity of Ghent, Belgium

No. 98/62
December 1998²

¹ Patrick Van Kenhove, University of Ghent, Faculty of Economics and The Vlerick School of Management, Department of Marketing, Hoveniersberg 4, 9000 Ghent, Belgium. E-mail: Patrick.VanKenhove@rug.ac.be. Walter van Waterschoot, University of Antwerp, Prinsstraat 14, 2000 Antwerp, Belgium. E-mail: fte.vanwaterschoot.w@ufsia.ac.be. Kristof De Wulf, Faculty of Economics and The Vlerick School of Management, Department of Marketing, University of Ghent, Hoveniersberg 4, 9000 Gent, Belgium. E-mail: Kristo.DeWulf@rug.ac.be

The authors thank the current and former editor of Journal of Retailing, three anonymous referees, and Christophe Van den Bulte for their constructive comments and suggestions throughout the development of this paper.

² An adapted version of this paper was submitted to Journal of Retailing